JOB SEARCHING

Bayt

When it comes to searching for job vacancies, the specialist Middle East employment website, bayt, is pretty much the best online site you'll find.

It covers all sectors, including banking and finance, education and training, medical and healthcare, marketing and PR, sales, engineering... You get the gist. In addition, it's simple to navigate, and offers virtual networking opportunities as well.

CV/RESUME WRITING

CV Centre

One of the most important areas when it comes to a successful job hunt is your CV. Getting past that first paper-sift all hinges on the quality of this vital document. Get it right, and the next stage beckons.

But if your CV sucks, it matters not a jot how good you are, because if you don't get to interview, your prospective employer won't even know you exist.

One of the very first companies that specialised in writing CVs is The CV Centre. And today they're still probably the best out there. They're affordable too, with services starting from £34.95
